

Commemorative Awards Luncheon Program

Working together to build a better world, block by block.

Advancing the knowledge of masonry

THE
SOCIETY

Letter from the Director

Happy 40th Birthday TMS!

It is a true pleasure to be able to open this Commemorative Program for the Society's Awards Luncheon, and to be able to reflect on the successes of our growing organization. In preparing for our 40th Anniversary Celebration, the Executive Committee wanted to take the time and reflect back on our early history, as we fortunately have a number of Founding Members and long-time members who remember our beginnings. As such, over the last few months, we have been trying to re-build our records, much of which were lost in the 2013 flood, while documenting history and remembrances from our members. This Commemorative Program hints at some of that work, while presentations, papers, and events at and around our Annual Meeting will document more of our history and accomplishments. These include:

- A "Digital Timeline" that was created early this year, and has been updated based on input from our members. This timeline can be viewed at:

masonrysociety.org/digital-timeline-celebrate-tmss-40th-anniversary-created/

- Along with this, the Masonry Institute of America and MK Diamond Products have sponsored a 9-ft. long printed banner with a consolidated timeline that will be on display at the Annual Meeting.
- TMS Honorary Member and Past-President, Daniel P. Abrams agreed to present "TMS Turns 40! A Brief History of The Masonry Society" as part of the Annual Meeting Program.
- TMS Honorary Member and Past-President, John G. Tawresey will present "The History of Structural Masonry Standards Development". His presentation will mostly be based on his dealings with the Committee and TMS, but it will also reference a paper on the topic that will appear as a general interest paper in the next TMS Journal.
- Photographs, old TMS Newsletters, and other documents have been scanned by Members and staff to supplement the Society records, while also making these resources more readily available to members.
- As included in this Program, and in presentations and displays throughout the meetings, staff has been busy compiling data on the successes, and yes, in some cases, struggles, of the Society.
- Members (see list of Advertisers on the back) have generously sponsored the Annual Meeting and this Commemorative Program offering their wishes and support of the Society.

The above only hints at the work that has been going on to document our history and to help celebrate our 40th Anniversary. We hope you enjoy the celebrations, and feel proud of the Society that you helped make better. With nearly 19 years under my belt as your Director, I realize more every day what a special and generous group of Members we have! You are why the Society continues to meet its mission to advance the knowledge of masonry. As we work towards our next 40 years, I am excited by the great work underway by such an amazing group of people. Thank you for your membership and your support. I look forward to working with you to accomplish even better things in the years to come!

Sincerely,

Phillip J. Samblanet

Honorary Members of The Masonry Society

For those having attained acknowledged eminence on masonry

About Honorary Membership

Honorary Membership is the highest honor that TMS can bestow on a member. It recognizes individuals who have attained acknowledged eminence related to masonry research, design, or construction. Honorary members share many similarities including the belief that TMS is a critical part of the masonry industry as well as their advocacy of masonry as a versatile structural material.

Honorary members of The Masonry Society are shown below. The year listed in parenthesis indicates when the individual became an honorary member. Honorary Members carry the designation HTMS, Honorary Member of The Masonry Society.

Nomination Procedure & Requirements

Only a TMS member may nominate an individual for honorary membership. Nominations may be submitted at any time, although nominations are typically considered during the early spring of each year so that the awards can be adequately considered at the Spring Meetings of TMS.

Nominations should be submitted to the Executive Director, who forwards the nomination to the President and the Immediate Past-President. If approved, the nomination is submitted to the Board of Directors who must unanimously approve the nomination.

John B. Scalzi

Recognizing his leadership in innovative and creative masonry research, The Masonry Society created the John B. Scalzi Research Award to honor the work of Dr. Scalzi, and other researchers who demonstrate excellence in masonry research activities.

During his productive and influential career, Dr. John B. Scalzi served in many roles, although he is probably most well known for his contributions as the Program Director of Systems Engineering for Large Structures at the National Science Foundation (NSF). Earlier in his career, he was the program director of the Earthquake Engineering Section of NSF, and he worked for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development – Research Technology Division. He also served as Director of Marketing Technical Services for the United States Steel Corporation, was a Professor at Case- Western Reserve University and was a design engineer for the Curtis Wright Corporation.

While in the Earthquake Engineering Section of NSF, he perceived the need for research on structural masonry, and he initiated such work in the 1970's. Moreover, he stimulated research on masonry through masonry workshops and through the funding of numerous masonry research projects, including providing significant financial support for the U.S. Coordinated Program for Masonry Building Research. His goal was to identify masonry research needs and then to accelerate the development of new and innovative masonry materials, construction methods and design techniques. In addition, because he recognized the deterioration of the nation's infrastructure in the late 1970's, he encouraged the development of evaluation and retrofit technologies. Likewise he also stimulated research in nondestructive evaluation (NDE) of masonry in the 1980's.

Dr. Scalzi passed away in 2006 after a distinguished career in which he accomplished much to better the building industry.

1993: VSL Corporation

Paul Haller

Professor Paul Haller was a dynamic engineer who helped revolutionize the design of structural masonry. Haller was born on March 7, 1902 in Zurich, Switzerland. He was formally educated at the Federal Technical University in Zurich, graduating in 1924.

After graduation, Haller worked as a practicing design engineer for several years, and then he joined the Swiss Federal Laboratory for Materials and Research. While there, he conducted extensive testing on masonry walls because after the second World War, concrete and steel materials were scarce throughout Europe. During his career, he tested over 1600 brick masonry walls, and the data from those experiments were used in the design and construction of an 18-story load-bearing brick building that consisted of walls from 12 to 15 inches in thickness. Such tall, thin walls caused nothing less than a revolution in the structural use of masonry since for the first time, a rational design method for structural masonry became possible.

In 1949, Professor Haller joined the engineering faculty at his alma mater and he became a full professor in 1966. Professor Haller retired in 1967 to enter private practice as a forensic engineer. In 1987, he died at the age of 85.

About the Award

The Masonry Society's Service Award is presented annually to an individual who has volunteered in special, and typically unseen, ways to assist the Society. The award recognizes those who continually assist the Society, but who are not normally recognized for their efforts. The Award is officially selected by the Awards Committee based on recommendations from TMS members and the Executive Director within the requirements listed on the website. Nominations are due on June 30th of each year. Up to three (3) Service Awards can be presented in a year.

An individual can receive the TMS Service Award multiple times and there is no maximum number of awards the individual may win. However, the basis for each award must be unique and independent of past contributions that may have already been recognized.

Clayford T. Grimm, P.E. Student Scholarship

For master's level students researching masonry

About the Award

Established in 2007 to honor the memory of Clayford T. Grimm, this Scholarship is awarded every year to a Master's level graduate student who is conducting research in masonry. The investigation can be in masonry materials, structures, construction, or architecture and must be performed under the direction of a member of The Masonry Society.

The current value of the annual scholarship is $1,000 US and there is over $18,000 in the award account thanks to the generosity of the donors.

The Masonry Society is accepting applications for a 2018 Clayford T. Grimm, P.E. Student Scholarship until July 31, 2018. (see the awards webpage for additional requirements for the applicants).

Clayford T. Grimm

Clayford T. Grimm, P.E., or Tom, as his many friends knew him, was a licensed structural engineer and noted author and friend. Prior to his untimely death in 2003, he had authored more engineering literature on masonry than any other living American. His published works include more than 170 papers in virtually all of the national architectural and engineering journals.

Mr. Grimm served as an adjunct member of the architectural engineering faculty at The University of Texas at Austin for 22 years where he taught undergraduate and graduate courses in masonry engineering and in construction specifications and contracts.

Recipients of the Grimm Scholarship

2012: Roanne Dawn Kelln researched reinforcing bar lap splices in masonry under Dr. Lisa Feldman with the University of Saskatchewan.

2011: Sarah Ebright investigated Early Age Shrinkage Potential of Masonry Mortars in Single-Wythe CMU Walls at the University of Wyoming under the direction of Dr. Jennifer Tanner.

2010: Jacob D. Sherman studied under the direction of Dr. David I. McLean at Washington State University and investigated the performance of concrete masonry shear walls that undergo in-plane (lateral) cyclic loading.

2009: Stephen A. (Alex) Crotty studied at the Georgia Institute of Technology under the direction of Lawrence F. Kahn and researched Creating Brick from Savannah River Dredge Materials to determine if the material dredged from the Savannah River can be used to produce brick conforming to ASTM C62 or ASTM C 216.

2008: Benchmark H. Harris earned his Master's Degree at the University of Texas at Arlington under the direction of John H. Matthys and researched Lower Bound Compressive & Flexural Strengths of Masonry with ASTM C270 Proportion Mortar.

As a member of TMS, Tom served in nearly every role. Besides being a founding member, he served on most TMS committees including the Board of Directors and the Technical Activities Committee. He was the first chair of the Task Group that developed TMS's website and he greatly assisted TMS in establishing relationships with various international groups. For his contributions, he was presented the President's Award in 1995 and was made an Honorary Member of TMS in 1997. To honor his memory, The Masonry Society created the Clayford T. Grimm, P.E. Student Scholarship in 2007.

A recognized masonry expert and world traveler Mr. Grimm was internationally known throughout the masonry arena. He received the rare and treasured award of Honorary Member in the British Masonry Society of which he was a founding member. He was arguably the best known American in masonry. His longtime and dear British colleague H.W.H. West described Tom Grimm as an international colossus, known and respected in ASTM, ASCE, ACI, TMS, Rilem, CIB, ISO, and BMS.

Fun Fact: The TMS Journal was first published in 1981 and since then an additional 52 volumes have been published. A total of 333 Papers have been published in those 53 Journals and another volume is expected to be published in December 2017, which may push the number of papers published over 340.

Fun Fact: You likely know that TMS hosted the 12th North American Masonry Conference (NAMC) in Denver in 2015 and will also host the 13th in beautiful Salt Lake City in 2019. But did you know that over the past 12 NAMCs, more than 1,100 papers have been published!

By some standards, 150 years is a long time. But for Canada's masonry producers, 150 years isn't that long at all. Take a building like Montreal's Saint-Sulpice Seminary. Built almost entirely of brick, block and stone, it has withstood more than 300 years of Canadian weather – and may well be around for 300 more.

Saint-Sulpice is proof that great buildings – like great countries – are built on strong foundations using the best materials.

From all of us at the Canadian Concrete Masonry Producers Association, happy 150th Canada – here's to many more.

Pilot Project Fund

To support special projects furthering TMS's mission through direct contributions

Overview

During The Masonry Society's October 2008 Strategic Planning Session it was recognized that while TMS members had excellent ideas for new programs, projects and seminars, the financial resources to support these projects were limited. As a result, the Board of Directors approved a new "Pilot Project Fund" to support special projects that further the Society's mission and offerings through direct contributions by donors. With approval from the Executive Committee, grants of up to $3,000 will be provided to projects requiring start-up funds if they are felt to have high merit to TMS, its members and the public. The Pilot Project Fund differs from the Endowment Fund in that the full amount donated can be used immediately and none need be held in reserve.

Closing Remarks Jerry M. Painter

With the approval of The Masonry Society’s Board of Directors and Awards Committee, Mr. Kurtis K. Siggard, Executive Director of the Concrete Masonry Association of California and Nevada (CMACN), has been named a Fellow of The Masonry Society (TMS) based on his significant contributions to masonry. Siggard’s leadership and support has contributed to masonry education and training of students, designers, producers, contractors, and professors. He has supported and assisted in funding a variety of research projects and masonry courses.

Siggard has been extremely active in bringing new ideas for the benefit of The Masonry Society and the masonry industry. During his three 2-year terms on TMS’s Board of Directors he offered ways to promote membership and to provide economic stability of the Society. His actions have followed his ideas: with his becoming a Sustaining Member of the Society, his support of three University Professor’s Masonry Workshops, and his promotion of a variety of Design Seminars and Masonry Testing Technician Programs.

As a member of TMS Board of Directors, and as a current member of TMS’s Administrative Committee Team, his ideas have been constructive, innovative and accordingly, sought. He is an active member of a number of organizations, and within TMS, he serves on several committees including Committee TMS 402/602.

2017 Members of The Masonry Society

as of October 15, 2017

The following pages show alphabetical listings (by last name) of Members of The Masonry Society based on Society Records through October 15, 2017 and going back until 1995. Records are incomplete prior to 1995. Some information has been gathered from earlier surviving Membership Directories. Members are shown with their continuous years of membership after their name. A + sign signifies a lapse in a person's membership, but that individual has since held continuous membership for the number of years after the plus sign. The designation ≥ 23 is used to signify that a Member has been a continuous member for at least 23 years and likely longer based on the limited surviving records. However, the length of their membership, when they joined TMS, and whether their membership was continuous prior to 1995 cannot be confirmed.

Member contact information is available in the Member Directory on the Society's website at:

On behalf of the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee, the Membership and Promotion Committee, and TMS Staff, we would like to thank all Members of the Society for their support, and to especially welcome the new members of the Society. We hope you will continue to find value, guidance, opportunities for growth, and friendship at TMS!

Fun Fact: Did you know that TMS has officially published 9 unique standards? All except TMS 401 are still maintained and referenced in the 2018 International Building Code. Below is a listing of standards published by TMS (some jointly with ACI or ACI and ASCE). Because the titles of these standards sometimes changed, the general “topic” of each standard is also noted.

- TMS 216 (Published jointly with ACI) - Fire Resistance, Published in 1997, 2007, and 2014
- TMS 302 - Sound Transmission, Published in 2000, 2007, and 2012
- TMS 401 - Standard Building Code Requirements for Masonry Construction, Published in 1981.
Formed basis for Uniform Building Code. TMS 401 Provisions were used in TMS 402, which eventually replaced it.
- TMS 402 (Formerly MSJC, ACI 530, ASCE 5) - Building Code Requirements for Masonry Structures, Published in 1988 by ACI/ASCE. Published jointly with TMS in 1992, 1995, 1999, 2002, 2005, 2008, 2011, and 2013. Published solely by TMS in 2016
- TMS 403 - Direct Design Handbook for Masonry Structures. Published in 2010 and 2013.
- TMS 404 - Design of Architectural Cast Stone. Published in 2016
- TMS 504 - Fabrication of Architectural Cast Stone. Published in 2016
- TMS 602 (Formerly MSJC Specification, ACI 530.1, ASCE 6) - Specification for Masonry Structures, Published in 1988 by ACI/ASCE. Published jointly with TMS in 1992, 1995, 1999, 2002, 2005, 2008, 2011, and 2013. Published solely by TMS in 2016
- TMS 604 - Installation of Architectural Cast Stone. Published in 2016

TMS Board of Directors and Committees

The Masonry Society (TMS) has a number of Committees to help the Society conduct business, to help the industry reach consensus, and to help our members learn and grow. The Board of Directors oversee all activities of the Society, using the Executive Committee to more effectively manage the Society's business and to direct staff between Society meetings. In addition to the Executive Committee, Budget/Audit Committee and the Bylaws Committee that report directly to the Board of Directors, TMS has two main groups of committees: Administrative Committees and Technical Committees. Administrative Committees report to the Administrative Committee Team (ACT) while Technical Committees report to the Technical Activities Committee (TAC). Both ACT and TAC report on the progress of the Committees directly to the Board of Directors.

Listings of current committees and their missions and goals are available on the Committee's section of the Society's website. Current rosters for Committees are available through the Ballot Portal of the website. If you are interested in serving on a committee, please fill out an online application or contact TMS staff or the Committee Chair.

Below is a listing (shown alphabetically by last name) of Elected Members who have graciously served on The Masonry Society's Board of Directors, helping to guide the Society. Years of service are shown after the Members name. Appointed positions on the Board, including the Chair of the Administrative Committee Team, the Chair of the Technical Activities Committee, and the Executive Director are not shown here, but are shown in other lists in this Commemorative Program.

On page 42 are past elected officers of the Society.

Pages 44 through 51 show listings of past Chairs of TMS Committees to recognize these special leaders, who have helped lead their committees.

All of these listings are based on limited, and in some cases, incomplete, TMS records along with information provided by a number of members. Listings of Committee Chairs are generally in chronological order, with the most recent chair shown first. Subcommittees and task groups are generally not shown because many were created informally and records on them are often not available. As with most information in this commemorative program, if you see omissions or needed updates please contact TMS staff so that we may update the Society's records.
